Brogan Wood Products LLC has earned a reputation within the design community as a source of truly unique veneers, the “Fingerprints of Nature” as we understand it. This recent installation in a private office in Washington DC, principal of interiors Ruth Jansson, of Leo A. Daly, called upon Mr. Brogan to help her create a stunning archway she designed for the entrance into the space.

The perfect wood - New Guinea Walnut, one of many gems in the BWP collection.

“This flitch was a true find, in my opinion, and really shows my passion for the raw material. It was probably 60 years old, something I came across on a buying trip. It was at least 1/28” thick, which is unheard of today. It was over 14’ long, and I had to have it. I knew the perfect job would come along to showcase it. THIS, is what makes my job fun!” said Mr. Brogan.
