

Texture d'Valbona

This textured panel product derives its name from inspirations of the Valbona River Valley, which is located in the Albanian Alps. Patterns are pressed into the surface of the veneer sheet and then laminated onto any typical substrate, such as MDF, particle board core or multilaminar plywood.

The linear pattern is the most popular, with others available. Colors are represented in part of our composite veneer line, as those are the veneers used to create this product. Custom staining and solid lacquer colors are also available.

This product comes cut to size, pre-finished and ready to install by millworker or GC.
